The Theology area at the University of Chicago Divinity School is concerned with the historical study of the self-understanding of a religious tradition and with the constructive interpretation of its meaning and truth for the contemporary world.

Students in theology must address questions of the history of theology, the definitive characteristics of theological claims and discourse, the criteria of meaning and of truth within a tradition, methods of theological reflection, and the manifold constructive ways to answer or to sustain the criticism of theological ideas and religious beliefs for the present.

Faculty
Ryan Coyne, Assistant Professor of the Philosophy of Religions and Theology (MA, PhD, University of Chicago)
Kristine A. Culp, Associate Professor of Theology and Dean of the Disciples Divinity House (MDiv, Princeton Theological Seminary; PhD, University of Chicago)
Kevin Hector, Associate Professor of Theology and the Philosophy of Religions (MA, Wheaton College; PhD, Princeton Seminary)
Dwight N. Hopkins, Professor of Theology (MDiv, MPhil, PhD, Union Theological Seminary; PhD, University of Cape Town)
Jean-Luc Marion, Andrew Thomas Greeley and Grace McNichols Greeley Professor of Catholic Studies and Professor of the Philosophy of Religions and Theology (Docteur en IIe cycle, Université Paris–Sorbonne; Docteur d’Etat, Université Paris–Sorbonne)
Willemien Otten, Professor of Theology and the History of Christianity (MA, PhD, University of Amsterdam)
Susan Schreiner, Professor of the History of Christianity and Theology (MDiv, Harvard University; PhD, Duke University)
William Schweiker, Edward L. Ryerson Distinguished Service Professor of Theological Ethics (MDiv, Duke University; PhD, University of Chicago)

For more information, contact
Teresa Hord Owens
Dean of Students
tdowens@uchicago.edu
773.702.8217
UChicago Divinity School

For more information, visit divinity.uchicago.edu
Recent Graduates

Sally J. Stamper, PhD 2012
“Horror and Its Aftermath: A Fresh Perspective on Theological Appropriations of Psychology”
Assistant Professor of Contemporary Christian Thought, Capital University

Alain Epp Weaver, PhD 2012
“Mapping Return: Palestinian Dispossession and Political Theologies of Exile”
International Program Director, Mennonite Central Committee

Nancy Arnison, PhD 2012
“A Tragic Vision for Christianity: Aeschylus and Whitehead”
President & CEO, Theological Book Network

Santiago Piñón, PhD 2012
“Francisco Vitoria and His Search for Justice: A Theological and Rhetorical Consideration”
Assistant Professor of Religion, Texas Christian University

Marsaura Shukla, PhD 2012
“Ortholexis: Reading in Twentieth-Century Theology”
Tutor, St. John’s College, Santa Fe

Hilda Koster, PhD 2011
“For the Future of the Earth: Creation and Salvation in the Theologies of Jürgen Moltmann, Catherine Keller, and Kathryn Tanner”
Associate Professor of Religion and Co-Director of Environmental Studies, Concordia College, Moorhead, MN

Garry Sparks, PhD 2011
“Xalqat b’e and the ‘Theologia Indorum’: Crossroads Between Maya Spirituality and the Americas’ First Theology”
Assistant Professor of Religious Studies, George Mason University

Andrea Christina White, PhD 2009
“Alterity and the Divine-Human Relation in Karl Barth and Paul Ricoeur”
Associate Professor of Theology, Union Theological Seminary in the City of New York

Recent Courses
This is merely a sample of coursework available at the Divinity School. Our faculty teach over 100 courses each year in the academic study of religion. Please visit divinity.uchicago.edu/courses for current and past course offerings.

- Jewish Liturgical Poetry (Fishbane)
- Theological Sources in Philosophical Reflection (Coyne)
- Reinhold Niebuhr: Theology and Ethics (Gamwell)
- Job and Theology: Between Biblical Hermeneutics and Philosophical Theology (Fishbane)
- Aquinas’ Summa Theologiae: Its Structure and Pedagogy (Otten and McGinn)
- Painting, Phenomenality, Religion (Marion)
- Black Theology: 1st Generation (Hopkins)
- Readings in Luther (Schreiner)
- Early Modern Catholicism (Schreiner)
- The Concept of Religion Between Philosophy and Theology (Marion)
- Poetics of Midrash (Fishbane)
- Late Medieval Christianity (Schreiner)
- Black Theology: 2nd Generation (Hopkins)
- Theological Realism (Hector)

The University of Chicago Library
The University of Chicago Library is one of the largest and richest research collections (both in print and online formats) in the world. Religious Studies has been a core component of the collection since the University’s founding, and its current strengths match the research needs of the areas of study in the Divinity School. The Library has a full-time Bibliographer for Religion and Philosophy who holds workshops specifically designed for those studying religion.

To learn more about library resources at the University of Chicago, visit library.uchicago.edu.

Graduate Workshops
The Council on Advanced Studies (CAS) sponsors interdisciplinary graduate research workshops in the humanities, social sciences, and divinity, designed to bring together faculty and graduate students from the University of Chicago and the wider Chicago area to create scholarly dialogue, to encourage cross-disciplinary collaboration, and to foster the exchange of ideas. Workshops include Middle East History and Theory, Medieval Studies, Gender and Sexuality Studies, Religions in America, Early Christian Studies, Jewish Studies, and Hebrew Bible. In addition, the Divinity Students Association offers a range of workshops and clubs: one for each area and others according to student interest. Current groups include Buddhist Studies, the Women’s Caucus, and The Sacred Flame. To learn more, visit divinity.uchicago.edu/clubs-and-workshops.